Every Hotelier must make their establishment Fire Compliant - Shri Adarsh Shetty

Forever News reporter

Welcome Address by the host Vice President, Zone-X Shri Anil Salian

Mumbai: The recent Fire episode which took the life right from the Chief Fire Officer, Second and third in command of the Mumbai Fire Force Fire and the case of City Kinara Restaurant, Kurla which took eight young lives, was a heart-wrenching scene at Ghatkopar's Rajawadi hospital. In all these case major reason for fire is the careless attitude and neglect of fire safety advisory by the people who manage the hotels and establishments.

In most of the fire cases it is evident that the fire is spreading through AC duct and improper installation and illegal connections which in turns, lead to serious fire hazards. As the rubber hose which used to connect the cylinder and gas stove often catches fire due to faulty tubes. The gas pipe gets melted and gas leaked into the air-conditioned room and the fire spreads even faster.

Hence, the members are requested to take adequate precautions to make their Eating House fire retardant and make their establishments fire compliant by periodical fire audit.

Looking forward to support from all the members in the matters concerning safety of the employees and patrons said President Shri Adarsh Shetty.

Supreme Court Allows Dance Bars To Reopen In Mumbai

Shri Chandrashekar Shetty addressing the august gathering at a meeting held on 20.10.2015 at Bunts Sangha Annex, Kurla during the victorious celebration of the Supreme Court allowing Performance bars to reopen in Mumbai, this will be a huge opportunity for employment in the Hospitality sector.

NEW DELHI: Dance bars will be back in business soon in Maharashtra following the Supreme Court's stay on a law banning dance performances in bars, hotels and restaurants in the state.

However, the court did give power to licensing authorities to regulate indecent dance performances. It said that the state must ensure that the dignity of women artists is protected.

Maharashtra's law - that banned dance performances -- was very similar to a previous law that was declared unconstitutional by the apex court, said a bench of Justice Dipak Misra and Prafulla C Pant.

The apex court had, in 2009, struck down a similar law saying that banning dance performances was unconstitutional. After that, the state government passed another law in 2014 with similar provisions.

The court however added a rider to its interim order and allowed the licensing authorities in the state to regulate indecent dance performances at bars and other places.

"However, we have a rider that no performance of dance will be remotely expressive of any kind of obscenity...The licensing authority can regulate such dance performances so that individual dignity of woman performer is not harmed," the bench said.

Additional Solicitor General

Tushar Mehta, appearing for Maharashtra said at the outset that interim relief may be granted to the Association and added that 2014 amendment in the Act is distinct by its nature.

The Maharashtra government had brought an amendment in 2005 -- the Bombay Police Act -- which was challenged in high court by an association representing restaurants and bars.

The Bombay High Court on April 12, 2006 had quashed the government's decision and declared the provision as unconstitutional saying that it is against Article 19(1)(g) (to practise any profession, or to carry on any occupation, trade or business) of the constitution.

However, the state government had moved the apex court against the high court's order that same year.

On July 16, 2013, the Supreme Court upheld the Bombay High Court verdict quashing the state government's order and had said that the ban violated the constitutional right to earn a living. The state assembly however, on June 13, 2014, passed the Maharashtra Police (second amendment) Bill which prevented licenses for dance performances in three star and five star hotels.

Hotel City Kinara fire incident an eye opener

MUMBAI: The recent fire incident in which eight promising young lives from seven of them from Don Bosco College were lost due to the fire in Kurla restaurant; an urgent college project submission proved a blessing for their friends, who were about to join them for lunch.

Hotel City Kinara a Chinese food joint located opposite Holy Cross School, around 1.30 p.m. While the restaurant had a valid eating house licence, locals claimed that the mezzanine floor, where the fire broke out, was illegal. The deceased were seated on the mezzanine floor, which was used as a family seating room.

The police findings about the cause of fire lead to two cylinders on the mezzanine floor. One of them was empty. Gas was being supplied to the ground floor through a pipeline. Prima facie, it appears that the pipe developed a leak and caused a spark. The fire then spread all over the restaurant," said a fire official. The victims were taken to BMC-run Rajawadi hospital, where they were declared dead on arrival.

The tragedy could have been worse as many students were at the college. The ground-plus-one-storey restaurant was old and crowded, but its inexpensive menu appealed to most students struggling with shoestring budgets.

Expensive food at the canteen had, in fact, pushed many other students to eat at the more economical City Kinara.

The conclusion is that most of the fire and ceiling collapse happening due to improper fitting of furniture and fixtures.

AHAR as a responsible organization has advised its members to get timely fire and electric audit and display the same prominently at a visible location that the eating house is fire compliance.

Shri Gopal Shetty, MP felicitated

Shri Gopal Shetty Member of Parliament (MP) being felicitated by senior Hoteliers during the 10th Monthly Managing Committee Meeting held at Avenue Hotel at Kandivli (E), Mumbai. During his inaugural speech he assured AHAR & the Hotel industry every support to business with ease.

BMC action on Restaurants

The BMC has initiated action in most of the wards where it demolished illegal extensions of hotels and seized unauthorized gas cylinders and unguarded items that can be fire hazardous. They have also taken action for not exhibiting licences, lack of NOC from fire department & health licences, seized counters of Pav Bhaji in front of the restaurants.

The BMC has also been demanding NOC from Environment dept. While the Environment dept. says that they have stopped issuing NOCs since last few years.

In these circumstances AHAR has asked all its members to strictly follow the guidelines issued by Fire department. It has also asked its members to obtain Fire NOC from the department incase they do not possess one or have misplaced them.

Please refer to the AHAR website www.ahar.in for Fire Safety Guidelines issued by Mumbai Fire Brigade in the aftermath of the Hotel City Kinara fire.
