SEA – AICOSCA COTTONSEED OIL CONCLAVE 2017

INVITATION

16th Oct., 2017

Dear Friends,

Cotton is the only unique crop that provides clothing, food and feed for the use of man kind. The Solvent Extractors' Association of India (SEA) & All India Cottonseed Crushers' Association (AICOSCA) are pleased to announce the 1st Cottonseed Oil Conclave – 2017 to be held on 16th December 2017 at Hotel Courtyard by Marriott, Ahmedabad, Gujarat, India to focus on cottonseed oil, cake and meal.

This year, kharif crop acreage under cotton has sharply increased from 10.26 million hectare to 12.17 million hectare raising the hope for record crop of cotton to the tune of 38 to 40 million bales (170 kg. per bale). Cottonseed forms 2/3 of cotton by weight. The current production of cottonseed oil in the country is about 13.0 lakh tonnes, next to rapeseed and soybean oil. Gujarat is a major state consuming nearly 5.0 lakh tonnes of cottonseed oil as direct cooking oil due to its unique frying property, however, in the rest of the states, cottonseed oil is not very popular as a house hold cooking oil and mainly used by bulk consumers like Food industry and also hotels , restaurants & canteens for frying purpose.

Cottonseed oil praised for being low in trans fat, is often used as a cooking oil because it can help to bring out the flavor of the food rather than masking them. Also, cottonseed oil is known to help in checking high cholesterol & blood pressure, arthritis, gout, dementia; Alzheimer's disease and a few cancers, inflammatory conditions, wounds, cuts, scrapes and skin condition. It also helps speedy healing, improves cognitive health, prevents prostate cancer, boosts immune system and reduces inflammation.

Cottonseed oil is known as a best frying oil in the world. The fried food prepared in cotton seed oil remains fresh for 3-4 weeks without turning rancid, while fried food prepared using other oils turns rancid much earlier.

To highlight the best frying property and the virtues of cottonseed oil, SEA & AICOSCA are holding this 1st Conclave at Ahmedabad to create public awareness. The Conclave will also focus on scientific processing of cottonseed, nutritional value and better usage of cottonseed cake/meal in cattle feed to achieve the high productivity of milk.

We are inviting speakers from cotton and cottonseed fraternity and scientists to address the delegates. The Conclave programme will also include the Panel Discussions on "Promotion of cottonseed oil as best cooking oil for frying" and "Price Outlook for cottonseed oil, cake and meal".

We are expecting over 300 delegates from all over India to participate in the Conclave and take this opportunity to cordially invite you to be a part of this Conclave at Ahmedabad by registering as a delegate and actively participate in the deliberations.

Looking forward to receive you at this important event on Cottonseed oil.

Yours faithfully,

Atul Chaturvedi
President, SEA

Sandeep Bajoria
Chairman, AICOSCA

HISTORY OF COTTONSEED OIL

Cotton has been around since ancient times and it has been found that people from 3500 BC wove cotton into cloth. This was evident from pieces of cloth from the Indus Valley Civilization that were found by archaeologists. As centuries passed, more research was conducted to find how cotton can be used in other ways. It was found that the oil extracted from the seeds of cotton plants could be used for cooking. More studies found that cottonseed oil is one that has quite a few health benefits.

What is Cottonseed oil ?

Cottonseed oil, as the name implies, is made from the seeds of cotton plants, which are produced in huge quantities in various countries, including the United States. Similar to other seed oils, the cotton seeds must be husked, revealing an oil-rich kernel, which can then be pressed to extract the valuable oil. This oil, which is praised for being low in trans fats, is often used as a cooking oil, because it can help bring out the flavor of foods rather than masking them. It is also popularly used as a form of biofuel. However, not all cottonseed oils are made equally. Unprocessed oil may contain more than 70% unsaturated fats, but hydrogenated cottonseed oil is extremely high in saturated fats, which have negative side effects on the body. The benefits of the organic, unprocessed version of this oil are due to the presence of polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fats, as well as various other antioxidants.

Top 10 Cottonseed Oil Uses:

Cottonseed oil falls under the vegetable oil category and is considered one of the most popular cooking oils in kitchens all over the world. It is used in a variety of ways such as dressing for salads and deep-frying numerous food items.

Here is a look at the top 10 reasons why cottonseed oil is so popular:

1. It contains a high amount of antioxidants which are essential for good health.
2. It is also rich in Vitamin E, which like antioxidants, is important in fighting free-radicals.
3. Cottonseed oil is low in cholesterol which makes it a great choice for those who want to lower their cholesterol levels.
4. This oil is great for deep-frying as it is known to enhance the flavour of fresh foods instead of hiding them, unlike some other oils.
5. It is considered better for baking as it is not as heavy as other oils.
6. It has high oxidation-resistance which makes it ideal to be used for salad dressings.
7. Cottonseed oil is processed specially for a vast range of applications in the manufacture of foods and is known to be a good substitute for cocoa butter in confectionery.
8. It can be used in rotation with other oils such as canola oil, groundnut oil, etc. as part of a healthy diet.
9. The light texture of this oil makes it great for cosmetic use, making it a common ingredient in creams, lotions, etc.
10. It has a light, neutral taste that is loved by people who do not like oils with strong flavours.

A Few Lesser Known Facts About Cottonseed Oil:

1. Did you know that cottonseed oil is used as a yardstick for measuring the flavour as well as odor qualities in other oils?
2. Unlike many other oils, this oil does not revert rapidly in flavour even when heated to very high temperatures.
3. Cottonseed oil is one of the main ingredients in most oriental dishes.
