Breakfast Focus Session-5

The 26th Conference of the ISOI allows the limited registered delegates (15 max) to connect face-to-face with the peers on a single topic over breakfast. The main objective of this session is to have greater insight to a specific area of interest and allow participants to hear the speaker reflect the current trends in key areas of implant dentistry. The delegates will also have an opportunity to discuss the new ideas with the experts.

Register for the FOCUS Sessions (FS) over two days and discover a unique learning experience.

Synopsis: Socket grafting is a procedure that is considered to reduce the amount of ridge resorption. Various materials have been used for the same. Research shows that augmenting sockets does not eliminate the need for augmentation at a later date. In a price conscious country like ours, the cost of biomaterials weighs heavy. In this session, we will deliberate on aspects for and against socket grafting.

Please note: i) The registration is for first-cum-first basis and mandatory

ii) Registration fee: - Free for in-house delegates

- Rs. 1400 /- per session for other delegates
