TOUCHDOWN

“There are some parts of the world that, once visited, get into your heart and won't go. For me, India is such a place. When I first visited, I was stunned by the richness of the land, by its lush beauty and exotic architecture, by its ability to overload the senses with the pure, concentrated intensity of its colors, smells, tastes, and sounds. It was as if all my life I had been seeing the world in black and white and, when brought face-to-face with India, experienced everything re-rendered in brilliant technicolor.”

Day 4 – In Kochi

We begin our tour with the Jewish synagogue in the Jew town part of the Fort Kochi area. Built in 1568, the synagogue is the oldest one active in the Commonwealth of Nations. The complex has four buildings.

Next we visit the Dutch Palace, also known as the Mattancherry Palace, constructed by the Portuguese in 1567 and presented to the then ruler of Kochi. The Dutch Palace is so called because the Dutch carried out some extensions and renovation in it in the mid-17th century.

The next stop on the tour is St Francis Church. Built in 1503, it is the oldest European church in India. The legendary Portuguese explorer, Vasco da Gama, who made several voyages to India, died in Kochi in 1524.

Next we will have a remarkable spectacle—fishing done using the Chinese fishing nets. These nets are fixed land installations, which are used for a very unique and unusual method of fishing. Operated from the shore, these nets are set up on bamboo and teak poles and held horizontally by huge mechanisms, which lower them into the sea.

Kathakali Performance in evening

No trip to Kerala is complete without watching a Kathakali performance. The Centuries-old Kathakali style of ballet has evolved into a highly structured dance performance based on ancient Indian lore. The dance form involves the use of hand gestures, eye movements, and facial expressions. Aided by elaborate full-body costumes and face makeup, the performers relate the dramatic tales of angry demons, virtuous kings, and all the classic characters of mythical battles between good and evil.
