Conserving Old Kuching: preserving culture, conserving heritage and encouraging arts

18th October 2026

Limited places, pre-registration required by 20th July 2026

ICOMOS-CIF will be delivering a UNESCO masterclass 'TRAINING THE TRAINERS' at Old Kuching Town. This is a very significant historic centre, with a remarkable diversity of cultures and architecture. Important developments are proposed in the area, integrating heritage preservation with smart technology and sustainable urban development.

The masterclass is addressed to teachers, professionals in built environment, officers and officials from local authorities, state agencies and federal governments who are already working on built heritage, in order to advance their practices. After a series of keynotes and introduction to the local, national and international policies and principles, the participants will have the opportunity to work in small groups to produce an outline proposal for the area, which will be presented to local officials and the community.
