

Fighting Crime is top priority for local digital security company

By Patrick Morais

Gamma Solution Sdn Bhd was first established in the year 2000 as one of the fastest growing companies in Malaysia, providing comprehensive and integrated services and solutions from analog to IP surveillance systems. The organisation's core business has always been in the distribution of CCTVs (closed circuit television). It was then an analog version and many premises have seen Gamma Solution's top notch experts and expertise at work at these projects around the country.

Today, keeping abreast of changes around the world, Gamma Solution has gone forward in leaps and bounds to arrive at digital IP Surveillance. With the world going into the internet of things (IoT), Gamma Solution has also embarked on CCTVs becoming 'intelligent' as these cameras are now connected via internet to computer software and hardware thus evolving into gadgets that turn automatic in handling surveillance of premises even in areas that encompass large spaces.

In fact like most companies in the country that are involved in providing high tech surveillance in security and safety of buildings and houses, commercial environments, and in government and private sectors, Gamma Solution remains as one of the top ranking companies that continues to provide surveillance system that integrates CCTV to IP network with scalable end-to-end solution that helps organisations to deploy IP surveillance systems with flexibility, scalability and compatibility.

According to Mr Wan Yat Hon, the Managing Director of Gamma Solution Sdn Bhd, the company is focusing on becoming one of the leading organisations that would also be able to provide security solutions to the whole of South East Asia. He said that Malaysia has in fact become so advanced in high tech use that almost all devices have become internet connected.

Gamma Solution works very closely with INTEL, thus it is always at hand to know the latest of technological innovations in the world.

At Gamma Solution, one aspect of surveillance technology is facial recognition where it employs deep learning Artificial Intelligence Technology to recognise persons or intruders at places such as government premises, airports for vigilance against possible terrorists or travellers who have been blacklisted, factories and others. It is also useful at retail sectors for VVIP guest detection (to service them better as premium customers) and handling shoplifting menaces. How this is possible lies in the simple fact that facial recognition is automatically linked to a database. It is from the database where processes take place and images are identified and then 'reported' almost instantly. Facial recognition is relatively new in Malaysia and we foresee it will be a very important tool in Fight Crime in terms of efficiency and accuracy.

Gamma Solution Sdn Bhd is proud to have launched the 'Fight Crime for Schools Campaign' in 2017, to stop and prevent crime at schools around the country. Mr Wan said that they had sponsored 100 sets of Megapixels IP Surveillance System to detect potential crime and prevent kidnapping at schools throughout the country, supported by Intel and WD Purple. He said that it is today common knowledge that many crimes take place at schools and its vicinity. These high definition IP cameras that are strategically located are capable of scanning and recording wide areas at school entrances where most student drop offs and pick ups take place. What is even more comforting is the 4 megapixels high resolution IP cameras are able to capture and recognise car plate numbers and human faces clearly.

This campaign, explained Mr Wan, cost them one million ringgit for the 100 schools where half of the beneficiaries were primary schools in the Klang Valley while the rest were from around the country including Sabah and Sarawak. Projects such as these form part of Gamma Solution's corporate social responsibility (CSR). Mr Wan asserted that Gamma Solution Sdn Bhd is totally committed to stop crime everywhere in the country; from schools and housing estates to private sectors and public premises including towns and cities; employing the finest of digital security
